Mom, As Mother's Day May 9th 2021 approaches, I still can't get used to you not calling me and telling me everything that was going on in your life and all the Family Members lives! truly miss you, I have your obituary on my dresser mirror so I can see you everyday, I love you and pray to God that your happy and at peace, when I was in the hospital, I did not want to worry you, so I didn't tell you, little did I know you were worried and at age 85 you came to the hospital to make sure I was okay, I am sure that long walk did nothing for your health, that guilt eats at me all the time, I am sorry, your just that kind of Mother, that kind of love, I will never have again with you gone, Thanks for everything you ever did for me, you are truly an angle, and belong in heaven, kisses Mom,

Dear Mama, Merry Christmas and Happy Birthday. It's so strange waking up today and not calling to wish you a Happy Birthday and a Merry Christmas. It was just as strange and empty not buying your cards and mailing them to you with your gifts. I truly miss these small gestures of love for and obligation we did for you. And I miss ordering your Christmas dinner from City Café. But God saw fit to call you home to be eternally with Him. Just know that there is an emptiness in our souls as well as in our homes today, your earthly 89th birthday, 12/25/2020. All of us truly miss you and thank you for all you did for us. Though we didn't always show it, know that we truly love you and always will. We pray for continued strength in the family. Keep watching over us all. Again, Merry Christmas and Happy Birthday, sweet Dimple. Love from your daughter and family: Lynda & James & Chrystal Louis; Vanessa & Demar & Daelon & Madison & Camden Greenslade; Lenita & Chad & Blake & Blair Turner; Kaonta & Terry & Travis Clark.

Sharon Pomeroy lit a candle in honor of Dimple.

To the family and loved ones of Dimple. I send my condolences, and love to all. She loved her family, but the greatest of her love was the Lord. She was a faithful, graceful, and a woman of God. I remember, as a youth, if you were over Dimple's house when Billy Graham came on the television set, you had to sit in the living room, on the floor, and watch it,. whether you wanted to watch it or not. I loved her smile but her laughs were infectious. She was an excellent cook. I remember one day we went to church for choir practice, I played the boogie woogie on the piano, boy did she chew me out. lol She gave me plenty of advice and guidance, that was backed up by the Bible and her wisdom, throughout the years.I looked at Dimple as being my second Mom. I loved this lady very much. Her spirit is with the Lord. She is at peace. Rest in peace Mom. Sharon Pomeroy
