One of the many precious blessings in life is in having the honor, pleasure, and delight in having you as my nephew, you will be deeply missed and always loved. I am so graceful and happy for having you for as long as you could stay before journeying home where you will always be surrounded by family, covered in love, armed with blessed spirits to light your path, make steady your feet, and an abundance of love to mend and comfort you; although I am sadden and it is truly difficult to let you go, know always, that you are loved, admired, and appreciated -- "Love You Always And Forever" -- Your Aunt Mildred.

Little did I know, that talking to Chris two weeks before his passing, would be the last time that I would get the opportunity to speak to my nephew. At that time he was upbeat and in a very good mood. He talked about finding a good wife and starting a family. He also talked about having a better life. Well, this did not happen on earth like you desired, but now you are in heaven with the Lord, which is the ultimate place to be. No more pain/suffering. Now you will find the peace and happiness you craved. Your mom, dad, and sister did the best that they could to help you have a fulfilled life here on earth. My heart goes out to them, as no parent should have to bury their child. God called you home early for a reason we will never understand. I will truly miss you, and hope to see you again in the after life. We will always love you Chris, and will keep your memories alive.
