Blue candle for the simple reason the man wanted to buy my blue boat. He held onto a blue car that was meaningful to him. For the blue pup I promised him when my chi had another. For the blue sky which we were supposed to stand under while fishing in the blue waters. For the blues we all are experiencing now he is gone. The color blue had more to do with our friendship than the color of our skin could ever have had. To me he will always be family, friend, a shoulder to lean on a man of his word heart of gold he had a personality like no other True to you as you to him. Very few men will ever be able to hold a candle in comparison to his character this blue world is now a darker place for the light we lost I hope his spark lit enough souls to bring the light back we lost with him gone be the man or woman box knew you could be strive to touch, enlighten and brighten the souls of people the way this great man has done this is a opportunity to show box you were ready to be the beautiful soul you are capable of being
