It has been a pleasure knowing you. We would laugh and talk about anything. We cried together, we fussed, argued at each other. I danced and you slept then you wake up, laugh at me and we danced together. Damn you!!!You didn't like my food , " you said I cook like white people" We ate a lot of City Cafe and Texas Roadhouse. Damn you Lamar !!!! love you Lamar. Rest in peace in the presence of the Lord.Love you forever, Alyce' Brooks Ms B

Jonathan and Felicia were my childhood friends, the best two people you could ever meet. We would get together ask Mrs. Accie, to pick me up in St. Elmo and go to their house and play. Then it would be late when she would bring me back home, of course I never wanted to leave. Glad I had the pleasure of meeting such good hearted people, I will always carry each one of them in my heart ❤️❤️❤️

There are so many memories that we have shared over the years! You were definitely a great and loving man to me! One our latest memories was me tryna lift your spirits and I danced off of Keep it in the closet lol The way u laughed and made me sit down was hilarious. And I thought I was jamming too, knowing I can't dance 🤔 I will always remember that moment and many more! The love you expressed for your kids and grandkids was priceless! And the love you showed my kids and Grandkids, we will always be grateful for! I'm gonna to miss checking on you and you checking on me. A piece of my heart is gone and a piece of my heart, you will always hold! My prayers to all of the family and friends! May God bless and keep each of you! You are back united and no longer have to hurt! Love you Londi ❤️ Always & Forever
