🕯️ Lighting a candle in honor and loving memory of my pastor, Elder Jonathan O. Seay. 🕯️ You are someone I loved dearly and will forever appreciate. A pastor after God's own heart ♥️—a vigilant soldier who never left the battlefield, always standing boldly for the Lord. You poured out your life in obedience, truth, and love, touching countless lives along the way. What God told you to speak, we believed it—because it was authentic, anointed, and true. Your words carried heaven's authority; you could take them straight to the bank. You lived what you preached, and your life was a living testimony of faith, perseverance, and victory. You have now put on your robe and told your story of how you made it over 🙏. We were truly blessed and honored to know you, to sit under your wisdom, and to learn from such a great, outstanding servant of the Lord and authentic man of God. You are tremendously missed, yet your legacy lives on through every soul you touched and every seed you planted. 🙏 My heartfelt prayers and deepest condolences go out to your family and friends. May God's peace, comfort, and strength surround you all during this time. ❤️ 🙏 Rest well, faithful servant. 🌿 ✨

Kelvin Bentley lit a candle in honor of Jonathan.

I am Kelvin Bentley, a former colleague of Jonathan at Genesis Career College. I hadn't even been in Nashville for a year when I received an offer to work as a financial aid advisor alongside Jonathan. The job itself was a blessing, but the friendship I gained with Jonathan was genuine, and this loss will most certainly leave a scar. I will always reminisce about the times I stepped away from my office to indulge in conversations with him—even when some of the things he said weren't filtered (but to know Jonathan was to know he was straightforward). There was never a dull moment when speaking with him, and those conversations always had a way of making my day. I am truly going to miss you, Mr. J, as the students called him. So until we meet again... fly high, look down, and smile big, because you left your mark here on earth. Thank you, my friend.
